Other investments are recorded at cost, including purchase price plus directly attributable acquisition costs. After the initial recognition, these investments are measured at cost less allowance for diminution in value of investments.

Allowance for loss of investments

Allowance for losses of investments in subsidiaries, contributions to joint ventures, investments in associates and investments in equity instruments of other entities is made when there is apparent evidence for impairment in value of the investments as at the balance sheet date.

Receivables

The receivables comprise the customer receivables and other receivables. Receivables are recognized at the carrying amounts less allowances for doubtful debts.

Allowance for doubtful debts is assessed and made for overdue receivables that are difficult to be collected, or the debtor is unable to pay due to dissolution, bankruptcy or similar difficulties.

Inventories

Inventories are determined on the basis of original cost. In case the original cost of inventory is higher than the net realizable value, it must be calculated according to the net realizable value. Cost of inventories comprise costs of direct materials, direct labor, and general operation (if any) incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and conditions. Net realizable value is the estimated selling price of inventory items less all estimated costs of completion and costs of marketing, selling and distribution. The Company uses the perpetual inventory method. Ex-warehouse price is calculated by specific cost method.

The Company's allowance for impairment of inventories is made when there is reliable evidence of impairment of the net realizable value compared to the history cost of inventories.

Tangible fixed assets and Depreciation

Tangible fixed assets are stated at history cost less accumulated depreciation. Historical costs of tangible fixed assets include all the expenses paid by the Company to bring the asset to its working condition for its intended use.

Tangible fixed assets are depreciated using straight-line method over their estimated useful lives. Details are as follows:

	Years
Buildings, structures	10 - 50
Machinery and equipment	05 - 15
Motor vehicles	06 - 10
Office equipment	03 - 06
Others	05 - 25

When a tangible fixed asset is sold or disposed, its historical cost and accumulated depreciation are written off, then any gain or loss arising from such disposal is included in the income or the expenses during the year.

Revenue and other income

The Company's revenue includes: Sales revenue, service revenue and construction revenue.

Revenue from sales

Revenue from sale of goods shall be recognized when it satisfies all the five (5) conditions below:

- The Company has transferred to the buyer the significant risks and reward of ownership of the goods;
- The Company retains neither continuing managerial involvement to the degree usually associated with ownership nor effective control over the goods sold;
- The amount of revenue can be measured reliably;
- It is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the Company; and
- Costs related to transactions can be determined.

Revenue from services

Revenue from services is recognized when the outcome of that transaction can be reliably determined. Where a transaction involving the rendering of services is attributable to several periods, revenue is recognized in the year by reference to the percentage of completion of the transaction at the balance sheet date of that period. The outcome of a transaction can be measured reliably when all four (4) following conditions are satisfied:

- The amount of revenue can be measured reliably;
- It is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the Company;
- Identify the completed work as at the balance sheet date; and
- Determine the costs incurred for the transaction as well as the cost to complete the transaction to provide that service.

Revenue of construction

Revenues of construction are reliably recognized in the following cases:

- For construction contracts stipulating that the contractor is paid according to the planned schedule, the revenue and expenses related to the contract are recognized in equivalent proportion to the completed work determined by the Company as at the balance sheet date.
- For construction contracts stipulating that the contractor is paid according to the value of the volume performed, the revenue and expenses related to the contract are recognized in equivalent proportion to the completed work confirmed by the customer and reflected on the issued invoice.

Increases and decreases in construction volume, compensation and other revenues are recognized as revenue only when agreed with the customer.

Revenues of construction are not recognized in the following cases:

- Revenue is recognized in equivalent proportion to contract costs which is probable to be paid
- The contract costs are recognized to expenses only when they actually incur.

The difference between the total accumulated revenue of the recognized construction contract and the accumulated amount recorded on the payment invoice according to the planned progress of the contract is recorded as a receivable or payable amount according to the planned progress of construction contracts.

4. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (CONTINUED)

Revenue from the sale of real estate

The Company's revenue from sale of real estate is recognized when it satisfies all following conditions:

- The real estate is totally completed and handed over to the buyer. The Company has transferred the significant risks and rewards of ownership of the real estate to the buyer.
- The Company does not retain managerial right over the real estate as the owners or control involvement with the real estate.
- The amount of revenue can be measured reliably.
- It is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transaction will flow to the Company.
- The costs incurred in respect of the transaction can be measured reliably.

Revenue from interest income, dividends and profits received and other income:

The revenue is recognized when the Company can obtain economic benefits from the above activities and when it is reliably measured.

Operating lease revenue

The Company applies the provisions of Circular 200/2014/TT-BTC dated December 22, 2014 of the Ministry of Finance on guiding the Enterprise Accounting Regime to record revenue from asset rental. In case the lease term accounts for more than 90% of the useful life of the asset, The Company recognizes revenue in one lump sum for the entire rental amount received in advance if all four (4) of the following conditions are simultaneously satisfied:

- The lessee has no right to cancel the lease contract and the Company is not obliged to return the amount of receivables in advance in any cases and forms;
- The amount of receivables in advance from the lease is not less than 90% of the total lease amount expected to be collected under the contract during the lease term and the lessee must pay the entire lessee amount within 12 months from the commencement date of the lease;
- Almost all risks and benefits associated with ownership of the leased asset are transferred to the lessee;
- The cost incurred from the leasing is relatively fully estimated.

At the same time, the Company performs one-time depreciation of the invested real estate into the cost of the rental service

Cost of goods sold

Cost of goods sold or services rendered including the cost of services, investment property, production cost of construction products sold during year is recorded corresponding to revenue of the period. For cost which is over the normal level of inventories is recorded directly into the cost of goods sold.

Financial expenses

Borrowing costs: Recorded monthly based on loan amount, interest rate and actual number of days borrowed.

Current corporate income tax expense and deferred corporate income tax expense/ Current and deferred corporate income tax expenses

Corporate income tax expenses (or corporate income tax income): is total current and deferred income tax expenses (or total current and deferred tax) in determining profit or loss of a period.

Current income tax expenses: are corporate income tax payable calculated on taxable profit during the year and current corporate income tax rate. Current income tax is calculated on taxable income and applicable tax rate during the tax period. Difference between taxable income and accounting profit is from adjustment of differences between accounting profit and taxable income in accordance with current tax policies.

Deferred income tax expenses: is corporate income tax payable in the future arising from: recognising deferred income tax payable during the year; reversing deferred tax assets recognised in previous years/periods; not recognising deferred tax assets or deferred tax liabilities arising from transactions that directly recorded to equity.

The Company has an obligation to pay corporate income tax at the rate of 20% on taxable profits.

The determination of the Company's income tax is based on current tax regulations. However, these regulations change from time to time and the final determination of corporate income tax depends on the examination results of the competent tax authorities.

Related parties

A party is considered a related party of the Company in case that party is able to control the Company or to cause material effects on the financial decisions as well as the operations of the Company. A party is also considered a related party of the Corporation in case that party is under the same control or is subject to the same material effects.

When considering the relationship of related parties, the nature of relationship is focused more than its legal form.

Segment reporting

A business segment is a distinguishable component of the Company that is engaged in manufacturing or providing products or related services (by business segment) or in providing products or services within a particular economic environment (geographical area) which is subject to risks and returns that are different from those of other segments. The Board of [General] Directors confirms that the Company operates in business segments of real estate business, construction, service activities and other activities in a single geographical segment - Vietnam. Therefore, the segment report will be prepared by business segments
