6. Content of information disclosure:

6.1 Explanation of the difference in profit after corporate income tax before and after auditing on the Business Performance Report and on the Balance Sheet in the separate Financial Statements of the Parent Company for the first 6 months of 2025:

Because the Audited Report for the first 6 months of the year sets aside additional provisions for receivables of foreign contractor tax in the management and administration expenses of more than VND 0.9 billion, there is a difference between the profit after corporate income tax before and after auditing on the Business Performance Report of the Financial Statements and the undistributed profit after tax target for this period on the Balance Sheet in the separate Financial Statements of the Parent Company for the first 6 months of 2025.

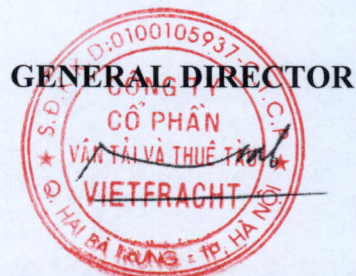

6.2 Explanation of the difference in profit after corporate income tax before and after auditing in the Business Performance Report and on the Balance Sheet of the 6-month consolidated financial statements of 2025:

The main reason is that the Audited Report of the first 6 months of the year sets aside additional provisions for receivables of foreign contractor tax in the management and administration expenses of more than VND 0.9 billion in the separate financial statements of the parent company, so there is a difference between the profit after corporate income tax before and after auditing in the Business Performance Report and the undistributed profit after tax index of this period on the Balance Sheet in the 6-month consolidated financial statements of 2025.
