The company reported a net loss after corporate income tax in Q1 2026, shifting from a profit in Q1 2025 to a loss in Q1 2026, primarily due to the following reasons:

- In the first quarter of 2026, the stock market experienced significant volatility due to the impact of the conflict, trading volume decreased sharply, and revenue from all business activities declined compared to the same period of the previous year. In particular, the sharp drop in stock prices led to a decrease in revenue from proprietary trading, and loss from revaluation of financial assets at FVTPL increased. These were the main reasons for the company's business results showing a loss compared to the same period of the previous year.
