5. Credit risk

The credit risk is the risk that a counterparty will not fulfill its obligations under the terms of a financial instrument or customer contract, resulting in financial loss. The Company is exposed to credit risk arising from its business activities (primarily from trade receivables) and its financial activities, including bank deposits and other financial instruments.

Trade Receivables

The Company's management of customer credit risk is based on its policies, procedures, and controls related to customer credit risk management. Outstanding trade receivables are regularly monitored. Analyses for the need to establish provisions are conducted at the reporting date on an individual basis for major customers. Based on this, the Company does not have significant credit concentration risk.

The majority of the Company's bank deposits are held at large, reputable banks in Vietnam. The Company perceives the concentration of credit risk related to these bank deposits as low.

6. Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company faces difficulties in meeting its financial obligations due to a lack of capital. The Company's liquidity risk primarily arises from the mismatch in the maturities of financial assets and financial liabilities.

The Company monitors liquidity risk by maintaining a cash and cash equivalents ratio deemed sufficient by the Board of Directors to support the Company's business operations and mitigate the impact of fluctuations in cash flows.

The maturity information of the Company's financial liabilities is based on the undiscounted contractual cash flows as follows:

	Up to 1 year	Between 1 year and 5 years	Total

7. Market risk

Market risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate due to changes in market prices. Market risk includes three types: Foreign exchange risk, interest rate risk, and other price risk.

The company manages interest rate risk by closely monitoring relevant market conditions to determine appropriate interest rate policies that benefit the company's risk management objectives.

The company does not perform interest rate sensitivity analysis because the risk from interest rate changes at the reporting date is considered insignificant.

Other price risk

Other price risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate due to changes in market prices other than changes in interest rates and exchange rates.

The shares held by the company may be affected by risks related to the future value of the invested stocks. The company manages stock price risk by setting investment limits and diversifying its investment portfolio
